PUTNAM BOOKS AND AUTHORS

When a fellow needs a friend—at least the fellow who is wondering what to give for Christmas. Books of course are the ideal gift—they may be made to suit exactly the taste of the recipient and the purse of the giver.

Bruce Bairnsfather will lecture in America this winter. His "Fragments From France" (48 books of them published) brought laughter to thousands. Then, too, most of us saw the play, "The Better 'Ole." Indeed, Bairnsfather and his caricature hero, Bill, are international figures. And now there's to be published next week

The Bairnsfather Case

The whole horrid truth of the defendant's life is bare, and many side-splitting drawings are offered as material evidence. A bulky gift book.

You'll enjoy Don Byrne's new novel, "The Foolish Matrons."

The play "Enter Madame," by Gilda Varez and Dolly Byrne, will be out in book form about Christmas time.

"High Society"

Be in the midst of it. It's time you met the social elite. You will find in "High Society" the most complete and up-to-date guide to the life of the aristocracy. It is a book that will be read and reread. It is a book that will be a constant companion. It is a book that will be a treasure.

A bridge expert, eh? Naturally, then, you need and you'll enjoy MASTER AUCTION, by Florence Irwin—"the most stimulating writer on Bridge."

A Real "Best Seller"

Ethel M. Dell's success sweeps across steadily and surely. It's like a snowball—the impetus of each new novel makes it larger. In 1914 some 30,000 people bought her novel of that year. The next passed the 50,000 mark. Then 75,000. And last year "The Lamp in the Desert" slipped comfortably past the 100,000 point, the fourth best selling book of the season. And the other day we had to print a new edition to keep up with the continuing demand.

THE TOP OF THE WORLD

is Dell's best book. All bookstores have it. ($2.00.) Heywood Brown says THE COMEDIAN, Reymont's novel translated from the Polish, "is vivid and entertaining."

G. P. P.

H. Adams, Ferdinand Frazier Jelke, the Rev. Walter S. Hayward Jr. and C. Pelham Darlington.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ryle Strange, of 111 East Seventieth Street, will be married to Dr. Henry Arthur Griffin, of 1 West Fifty-fourth Street, today at the home of the bride. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Fay, of the Union Theological Seminary, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. Mrs. Strange and her first husband, Albert B. Strange, of this city, were divorced in 1917 at Ellsworth, Me. They had three children. Dr. Griffin's first wife died several years ago. His daughter, Miss Helen De Forest Griffin, was married recently to Hugh Dudley Cotton, son of J. Lee Cotton, of 10 East Eighty-fifth Street. Miss Mary Danforth Strange, daughter of Mrs. Strange, was one of the bridesmaids.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nathan, of 272 West Ninetieth Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Teresa L. Nathan, to Joseph M. Sydney, of Boston and New York. The wedding will take place December 12. The honeymoon will be passed on the Continent and in the Far East.

Miss Beatrice Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Warren, of Shore Acres, Mamaroneck, was married to Edmund Fletcher Rees-Morg, of Chelmsford, Somerset, England, yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph P. Donoghue, of Holy Trinity Church, Mamaroneck. The bride was attired in white satin and wore a veil of Carriemaree lace which had been worn by the bridegroom's grandmother. The attendants were Miss Edith Leeming, as maid of honor, and the bride's sisters, Miss Adrienne and Miss Helen Warren, as bridesmaids. A reception followed the ceremony, more than 150 guests being present. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Rees-Morg left for an extended tour through the South. In January they will sail for England, where they will make their home.

WANAMAKER BOOK SHELF

Children's books are particularly beautifully illustrated at Christmas time.

Arthur Rackham has illustrated in his inimitable and charming fashion forty fairy stories of the Brothers Grimm; stories which generations of children have loved, among them The Twelve Brothers, The Star-Money, One-Eye, Two-Eyes, and Three-Eyes, $5.

Maurice Maeterlinck has written the story of his play "The Betrothal" for children and called it "Tyltyl." Herbert Paus has illustrated the story with the very feeling which makes it so beautiful; a two-color illustration in the colors which symbolize the story, $5.

"Robinson Crusoe," illustrated by N. C. Wyeth. One immediately pictures this great adventure story, convulsed in pictures vibrant with the excitement of the cast-away's experiences.

Uncle Remus' stories and tales of Brer Rabbit's adventures are even more attractive to a youngster when he can turn to a picture, even though he cannot read, and picture over the ever-famous stories. Illustrated by A. B. Frost and E. W. Kemble, $5.

"Old French Fairy Tales," collected by the Comtesse de Segur are quaint and charming and delightfully illustrated by Virginia Sterrett with the dainty, decorative quality which belongs to these old tales, $5.

"Little Homesun Songs," with music, by Beatrice Hubbell-Plummer, are delightful little songs and verses woven from children's thoughts and gaily illustrated by Mary La Petra Russell, $3.50.

Our friend "Tom Sawyer" is with us in merry holiday attire; many of the amusing and thrilling incidents in the adventurous career of this lad are illustrated by Worth Brehm, $2.50.

"The Story of Jesus" is probably the most beautiful book of its kind which has ever been published. The text from the New Testament which tells the story of Jesus is illustrated by colored reproductions of the old masters, Giotto, Chirlandello, Fra Angelico, Duccio and Gentile da Fabriano, $16.50.

These are but a few of the treasures in the children's corner. Bring the children in to tell you what books they want and then place your Christmas order.

James Housman, was married at 6 o'clock last night to Frederick Spiegelberg Jr. at the Hotel Vanderbilt. Judge Frederick Spiegelberg officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Spiegelberg, after their return from Bermuda, will live at 13 West Sixty-ninth Street.

The Count and Countess de Limur have returned to the city from Birmingham, Calif., and are at the Hotel St. Regis until they sail for Europe.

Mr. Hermann Oelrichs, who has been ill at his apartment in Paris, is convalescing and, according to information received in New York yesterday, expects to be about soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt have returned to the city from their country place at Hyde Park and are at their house, 1025 Fifth Avenue.

Mrs. Antonio Ponvert, of 410 Park Avenue, who was given a luncheon November 30 at the Ritz-Carlton for Miss Constance Nash, the debutant daughter of Warren B. Nash, has postponed it to December 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Pope Satterwhite will give a house party over the weekend at their country place at Great Neck, L. I.

Mrs. Edgar Speyer, of 22 Washington Square, is spending a few days at the Ambassador, Atlantic City.

Among those who entertained guests at the first of the Club de Vingt dances last evening in the Delta Kappa Room of the Hotel Vanderbilt were Miss Virginia Sterry, Miss Josephine Flood, Miss F. C. Havemeyer, Miss Margaret Hennessy and Miss Margaret Power.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Prime gave a dinner last evening at the Plaza.

Mrs. George Hillard Benjamin gave a dinner last evening at her house, 29 West Eleventh Street, and afterward took her guests to see "The Lady of the Lamp."

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton M. Smith, of Montclair, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Yates Smith, to Douglas Cary Wendell, of Wayne, Pa.

Fifth Avenue Hospital Drive

The Fifth Avenue Hospital Campaign Committee, at a luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday, announced additional contributions amounting to $3,000. In the last week more than $200,000 had been subscribed, the $2,500,000 fund needed for the new hospital.

Perishing at Roslyn to Rest,

Not to Marry, Says Sister

General John J. Pershing arrived in Roslyn, L. I., last night, and with his sister, Miss May Pershing, took possession of the old Benedict cottage close to the home of Admiral Aaron Ward, where he will remain until the first of the year.

He announced that he is seeking a complete rest, and will later take a trip to South America.

Rumors spread about the village that General Pershing was to marry soon, and would bring his bride to his new home. When asked about this report Miss Pershing said:

"No, indeed. He is coming here for a complete rest, and that is all."

Stinner Settles His Suit

A satisfactory agreement having been reached by both parties in a suit brought into the United States District Court last Tuesday by attorney for the plaintiff, the firm of Sherman & Sons Company, white goods merchants, of New York.

Mr. Speiman was for several years superintendent of the Sunday School of the Reformed Church of the Heights, of which he was also a deacon and later an elder. He was for many years a member of the Hamilton Club in Brooklyn and the Rembrandt Club, and was a director of the Home for Destitute Children.

He is survived by two sons, Hoyt and William C. Speiman; a daughter, who is the wife of Dr. Clark Burnham, of Brooklyn; fourteen grandchildren; and one grandchild. Funeral services will be held this morning in the chapel of the Reformed Church on Monroe Place.

Arthur H. Waitt, Widely Known as Railroad Man, Dies

Sharon, Conn., Engineering Expert Was Associated With N. Y. Central for 25 Years and Other Lines

Arthur H. Waitt, well known in engineering and railroad circles of this city, died Wednesday in Sharon, Conn., after an illness of a few weeks. Mr. Waitt was a descendant of Governor Hinkley of the Plymouth Colony. He was sixty-two years old.

Mr. Waitt was born in Boston and attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His first association with railroads was with the Boston & Maine Company, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad and became superintendent of motive power and rolling stock of the New York Central, with which road he remained for twenty-five years.

During his connection with the New York Central Mr. Waitt was a member of the electric traction commission, which planned the electrification of the New York Central.

Mr. Waitt retired from the New York Central ten years ago and immediately thereafter was associated with Colonel William J. Wilgus in appraising the rolling stock of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and was also a director in the Sprague Safety Control and Signal Corporation. He became a member of the Connecticut Assembly and was the author of the automobile laws now in force in that state.

Mr. Waitt was a member of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, the New York Railroad Club, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Louis Institute Club, the Engineers Club, the Hartford Club and numerous other societies. During the war he organized one of the largest purchasing branches of the Ordnance Department at New York and Hartford. It was during this work that his health became impaired.

He is survived by his wife, Anna Schoepers Waitt, a sister of Dr. Schoepers of this city, and a son, Weymer H. Waitt.

Funeral services will be held at the Waitt home in Sharon at noon today. Burial will be made in the family burial ground at Barnstable, Mass.
